

White Paper on the National Lifestyle 2006

Towards a society in which a variety of challenges are possible

Summary

June 2006

Cabinet Office

Contents

Introduction: What is a society where a variety of challenges can be made?	2
Part 1. Various challenges in daily life	2
Part 2. Ease of making challenges in work	3
Chapter 1 Young people look for a suitable job	4
Part 1. Another challenge at seeking a suitable job	4
Part 2. The barriers young people face in seeking a suitable job	8
Efforts to break down the barriers (case studies)	11
Improving the economic foundations of young people will lead to a halt in the declining birthrate in Japan
Chapter 2. Women's life cycle and work	13
Part 1. Ideal and reality of women's life courses	13
Part 2. Barriers that prevent women from continuing to work	15
Efforts to break down the barriers (case studies)	17
Part 3. Barriers preventing women from returning to work	18
Efforts to break down the barriers (case studies)	20
Achieving the desired life course can lead to a halt in the declining birthrate
Chapter 3. Life redesign of elderly people	22
Part 1. Changing image of the elderly	22
Part 2. Employment of the elderly: perceptions and reality	24
Part 3. Elderly people's lifestyles and social contribution	27
Efforts to break down the barriers (case studies)	29
Active elderly people improve the child-rearing capabilities in the community
Conclusion: Towards the creation of a society in which a variety of challenges are possible	31